

2/3rds done on copyedit

By Holly Lisle

On the downside, I didn't get a chance to post a Friday Snippet yesterday. On the upside, I have 217 pages of the Ruby Key copyedit finished, and when I started yesterday, I had 108. Getting ready to charge in again. The possibility exists that I'll finish the whole thing today, but I still have tomorrow to fall back on if I don't quite make it. Then I'll box it and overnight it and Lisa will have it by deadline with a day to spare.

I'll have a snippet next week. Maybe part of the opener from the next Moon and Sun book.
