

A moment of constructive chaos catches villains in action

written by Holly

October 14, 2021

By Holly Lisle

Fun, fun writing today. I got to pull out all the stops getting my good guys into position to catch bad guys attempting to do very bad things – and the scene went off without a hitch.

Chaos is a lot of fun to plot, especially when it is the finely-crafted impression of chaos set up by folks who, it's going to turn out later, had been working on this chaos behind the scenes for a while, and who finally got a good opportunity to break out their plan and take it for a drive.

I got 1306 words out of 1250 planned, and a total of 69,362 on Book Four. Tomorrow I should (all things being equal) roll well over 70,000.

And I remain on schedule to get the book done by November 15th.

I'm very happy with what I accomplished today.

Contents © Holly Lisle. <https://hollylisle.com> All Rights Reserved