A piece of my mind

Finally got my scanner hooked up, and I promised earlier that I'd put up a couple pictures of the MRI I had done. Little images are clickable and go to bigger ones.

My neurologist studied every image in the whole pack (pages and pages, WAY too many to print) and concluded that I have a "very nice brain." Glad to hear it.

Will happily pretend I didn't hear the "for your age" he dropped in there once while effusing over my gray matter.

Me, I'm just relieved there aren't any teeth or bits of jaw or floating eyeballs from an unabsorbed twin…
