

AND DONE... Ohio #4 comes in at 82,359 words.

written by Holly
November 8, 2021
By Holly Lisle

And there are places where it's thin. My stuff always puts on muscle in revision.

I love the ending – it answers a BUNCH of questions, and brings in a new role for one of my main characters, and at the same time, it sets up Book Five.

I'm taking a week off from the words, just to let stuff perk. Maybe a smidge more than that – say until the Monday after next.

During that time, I'll focus on the rebuild of HollysWritingClasses.com, and let Ohio Novel #5 stuff percolate in the back of my mind.

Because stuff happened today that was big, and weird, and really important – and some of that is going to have to be included in the start of the next book.

Anyway – got MORE words than I planned, took longer than I expected to get them.

Totally worth it.

FICTION WRITERS! Sign up for Holly's Thursday Writing Tips

Contents © Holly Lisle. <https://hollylisle.com> All Rights Reserved