There's no actual prize for finding the "best bug" because a "best bug" in a manuscript is purely subjective. There would be no just, objective way to award a prize.

But this is my favorite bug found so far, located by Midnight Rain Bug-Hunter Charlotte Lenox...

Miami, she headed back to Fort Lauderdale. She'd never been there, knew no one in the vicinity, had no reason to run there — and she'd made sure that anyone Michael sent to ask after her would be able to figure out that the person who had taken the Fart Lauderdale ticket that she'd purchased had not been her. ¶

She'd hoped that when he eliminated Fort Lauderdale, Albuquerque, and eventually San Francisco, he would never consider those places again. That her careful

Fart Lauderdale. The automated book scanning process did some really interesting creative editing with this. ¶
