Manuscript blocked (30p sections paperclipped together). Intimidating pile. I'm working on the timeline now. If I can get that cobbled together today, I'll start in on the next block tomorrow.

It's not easy going – not by a long shot. But at least by having the thing clipped into thirty separate piles, I have a sense of the finite nature of the project. At the moment, being able to believe that it IS completable is paramount. I'd kind of lost faith.
