Margaret needs some bug testers for the shop. While sales are going through, there are some issues with the seller piece caused by us moving from a host using PHP 4 to one using PHP 5. If you could help us poke around and see what's going on, please post a reply here and make sure your email in your user file here is up to date.

This is one of those stress-y rush things—if you can help out, we'll both be really grateful.
