

Changing Those Referrer Links

By Holly Lisle

I've banished Google and Yahoo from the referrer links, though it will take a day or two for all the Google searches already up there to clear. I've been interested in how many people are searching for info on hindu squats (yes, they're really good, check the Mind/Body topic on the left for more information), and I'm astonished how many people are searching for ghost pictures, but there are some things people search for that ... well ... shit. Not on my site, babe, and not ever going to be on my site. Go away, you freaks.

So look at the Google-link freak-show while you can, because with luck by tomorrow that's going to go away.
