

Computer Issues

By Holly Lisle

Tried clearing the cache and cookies from my writing computer – still can't get back on my site. Meanwhile, downstairs the DSL modem stopped working for Matt, which means I can't get on the site from down there either. So anyone from the community reading this – please pass on the fact that I'm stranded. I can't update the site, can't visit the boards, and can't drop by in chat until I get something functioning here.

I HATE computers. No I don't. I hate Windows. That damned Registry file is the bane of my existence.

I'll see everyone when I can get there.
