

Culture Clinic Is Coming Along

By Holly Lisle

✘ The Create A Culture Clinic (Worldbuilding II or WBII for short) is coming along nicely this morning. I'm plugging along on the outline, so I don't have countable words on the progress bar, but I'm figuring out how to present the full process in a workable order.

Like all of writing, creating cultures makes the most sense if you break it down into doable tasks. This morning, I'm listing out all the many, many tasks. (You don't have to do all of them to make a functioning culture, though.)

It's fun. Lots of interesting things to think about, and lots of cool ways for getting from point A to point B.
