Wrapped the chapter with that bit of foreshadowing I wanted from the other side, and finished with 4076 words total.

Like what I got, though I suspect that I'll want to go over it again before doing anything else on this. Some of the relationship connections have really surprised me, and I think I can make good use of them in the outline, making Claire's requested fixes.

That's all for today, though. Going to go with my guys to see ROBOTS.
