Tomorrow I'll start on the type-in, but for today, I'm done, done, done!

The write-in revision went well. The beta tester comments helped—folks found a lot of the same issues my editor found, as well as a few things that didn't bother her, but bothered me. I managed to cover both bits of ground. No doubt I'll make some changes during type-in. I always do, after all. But they'll be small changes.

And when this is done, I get to start writing and building How To Think Sideways. I'm excited.
