Night Echoes started falling into place today. Got 2000 words. Will work on Hawkspar this afternoon. Right now, I'm starting into an open-ended fantasy proposal that has to be put together by next Monday. I am mapping, worldbuilding, language creating, and character-developing like mad—paper flies from my fingertips like lightning from the hands of mad Old Gods.

Plus... got potentially kick-ass cool news on The Ruby Key, but nothing I can talk about yet.

I am very tired. But very happy.
