

Happiness is a finished article

By Holly Lisle

Got the workshop Notecarding: Plotting Under Pressure finished and off to Zette. So there will be a workshop in the next issue of Vision. Got my words on the book this morning. Found a little time to spend in the community answering posts. And all this with my back out of place.

The back is a stress thing. I can tell when I'm under a lot of pressure because that's the time that it'll start hurting. So in spite of the pain, today has been a good writing day.
