

More on The Worldbuilding Series

By Holly Lisle

☒ Thanks to feedback from my test readers, I've already written two entirely new chapters for the Language Clinic this morning. I'm tearing apart a third right now, and will probably emerge with two separate chapters from it. I'm closing on 110 pages, and trying very hard not to go over that. And I redid the cover for the Language Clinic (very slightly) to make sure it was clearly identifiable as part of the Worldbuilding Course (this again thanks to my test readers.)

☒ But in the middle of doing this, I suddenly realized what the next book in the Worldbuilding Series had to be. The Create A Culture Clinic. I took twenty minutes and created the cover, to make this direction official in my own mind. I'm not setting a release date, even a tentative one, on this yet. But when I've finished Night Echoes/Shadow Music, I'll start in on it.
