The cluttered look of the old theme was driving me nuts. Got the lesson done a bit early today, found a new theme. This one is clean and not fussy.

And earlier today, did a little video for the How To Think Sideways course.

My next planned video is a guided tour of HollyLisle.com—just a quick one, but enough to show people how to find the ton of stuff I have on the site.

The headache is back, though, and is blinding. Going to go lie down.
