Had an “oops” moment with the blog. I...er...updated WordPress without backing up, and in doing so screwed up my templates and deleted a lot of folks “remember me” login codes. I apologize for the inconvenience I’ve caused some of you.

I am looking for a new template (I don’t like the current one at all) but the one that appeared briefly while I was reuploading an old backup copy of the blog was not a contender.
