

Site Search Issue

By Holly Lisle

Site search (the search box in the black bar, right top corner on every page of the site) is giving me conniptions. For some reason it's hung up every time I've tried to update it today. If you try to use it and it doesn't work for you, my apologies. I'm not in a position to mess with in right now, and though I'm still attempting to update (the updating is a simple button push) I don't have much hope at this point that it will work.

If it doesn't, the site may be without search for a while.
