Printer toner arrived late yesterday, so today, I'm starting in on the revision of WFH1 – printing it out now.

I've been wicked, though, and may be wicked again. I've already done a thousand words of "C," and may work on that a bit more this morning, just because it's gorgeous fun, and because I can. In fact, I'll be brief here, and do some of that while the printer does its work on WFH1.

Later, then.
