

Three Weeks Of The Think Sideways Walkthrough

written by Holly

May 5, 2011

By Holly Lisle

I forgot. I've just been swamped, and I forgot to post here to let folks know that I have three sampler pages from the How To Think Sideways Walkthrough available for everyone to use.

You get the complete content, including audio and downloads, for the first page of each of the following three weeks:

Week One: Break Thinking Barriers

Week Two: Create Your Sweet Spot Map

Week Three: Calling Down Lightning

I think you'll find these help you work through areas of your writing, from what you can't get started or keep writing, to how to figure out what to write about, to how to get story ideas when you have NO ideas.

Contents © Holly Lisle. <https://hollylisle.com> All Rights Reserved

Bracing For The Storm

written by Holly

May 5, 2011

By Holly Lisle

I've been doing HTTS Walkthrough prep and setup all week.

Site set-up, lesson template setup, student set-up.

Today I did workflow setup. Because I'm doing two projects at once, and because one is nonfiction and one is fiction, and because they are inextricably locked together like Siamese twins—and because both are MASSIVE projects, either of which could sink me if I don't plan well—I built something different.

I made organizer wallpaper for my desktop. I then set up my desktop with all my templates and files and folders either to the side, or right on the spot where I'll need to use them. Workflow is top to bottom, and left to right.

And Saturday is my day off, dammit. Except for today.

A bit of organizational coolness against the coming storm. I'll let you know how it works.

Contents © Holly Lisle. <https://hollylisle.com> All Rights Reserved