

The funny thing about humans

I've been working on Help Wanted on and off as I've had the energy. Last time I updated the WIP bar, I had 6013 words total in the story. I now have 7654, so that's 1641 since I last posted. Not 500 a day by any means, but still something.

Today I got to figure out what is cool enough about humans that we're sought out for ... well, something that would be a spoiler if I explained it. So I won't. But I like what I got. Chapter 3 is done. Three more to go.

How are you doing with your words?
