I'm about finished with the Quantum Socks knitting pattern—stunned by how tough it is to write a knitting pattern, by the way. After that, I'll have to put together the Anzi Knitting Rules and the Anzi Mantras and a yarn color chart. I figure I'll be able to post the thing in the Tangible Magic section of the site some time next week. Also working on a foreword for a collaboration Zette and I did. That will be showing up in the bookstore.
