

Thinking, thinking

Having to switch gears this morning, from the light-hearted project I've been putting together for the last week and a half to Midnight Rain, which is a dark romantic paranormal suspense novel. While I was thinking, I posted the first two chapters of the novel in their current version in the Sneak Peeks board. For copyright and first-rights preservation purposes, this board is restricted to viewing only by members of the community – however, membership is free. If you aren't a member and would like to read the chapters, you can join the community from this link.

That said, I have two thousand words ahead of me this morning, and I think I've finally figured out where this batch will start.
