You have to be kidding me. We're under a tornado watch and a thunderstorm watch, we have thunder AND lightning, and the power around here goes out if the gerbil on his treadmill at the power company farts.

If you suddenly don't hear from me, I'm sitting here in the dark saying every bad word I know, waiting for the power to come back on.

Today. It had to do this today.

Was too busy to notice the weather until the house shook.
