

Working on the proposal first

By Holly Lisle

Nice as it is to get the vast tracts of book out of the way, I need to get the proposal finished and out the door. Yesterday would have been good. Today ... not as good. Tomorrow ... ugh.

So I'm going through the proposal, and making some nice progress. Starting from the beginning, cutting and reshaping based on changes in concept I had later. With persistence and luck, I think I should be able to finish it today or tomorrow.
